

Safety Information Available for Hurricane Cleanup and Recovery Workers

Hurricane Katrina's devastation of the Gulf Coast has prompted massive recovery operations. OSHA has a special information page on its Web site that provides important information and resources to ensure worker safety during these operations. Some of the hazards addressed include electrical work, fall protection, safe operation of chain saws, and working around downed electrical wires. Future public service announcements will also be posted on this site.

<http://www.osha.gov/OshDoc/hurricaneRecovery.html>